BRAND STRATEGY

1.3 COMPANY NARRATIVE

By weaving our business strategy, brand and culture into one unified story, we create clarity and purpose that align goals, focus resources, strengthen teams and drive sustainable growth.

A photograph of three women in a yoga studio, captured in profile from the chest up. They are all in a similar pose, with their hands pressed together in a prayer position (Anjali Mudra) near their hearts. The woman in the foreground is a woman of color with her hair pulled back. The woman in the middle is a white woman with blonde hair. The woman in the background is a woman of color with dark hair. They are all wearing dark-colored athletic tops. The background is a bright, warm sunset or sunrise, with the sun low on the horizon, creating a strong backlighting effect and a soft, golden glow. The overall mood is peaceful and focused.

1.8 BRAND STRATEGY

With a clear brand strategy, we build a strong, recognizable brand that attracts new people, influences choice, builds loyalty and inspires recommendations — fueling sustainable growth for years to come.

Our brand strategy
defines why we matter
to our audience.

What is a Brandkey?

The Brandkey defines our brand positioning and carves out the distinct role we play in people’s lives.

It has two parts and lays out the foundational and strategic elements that make our brand different and relevant to our audience.

Part Two: Core

Defines our brand positioning. It informs how we behave and express ourselves in the world.

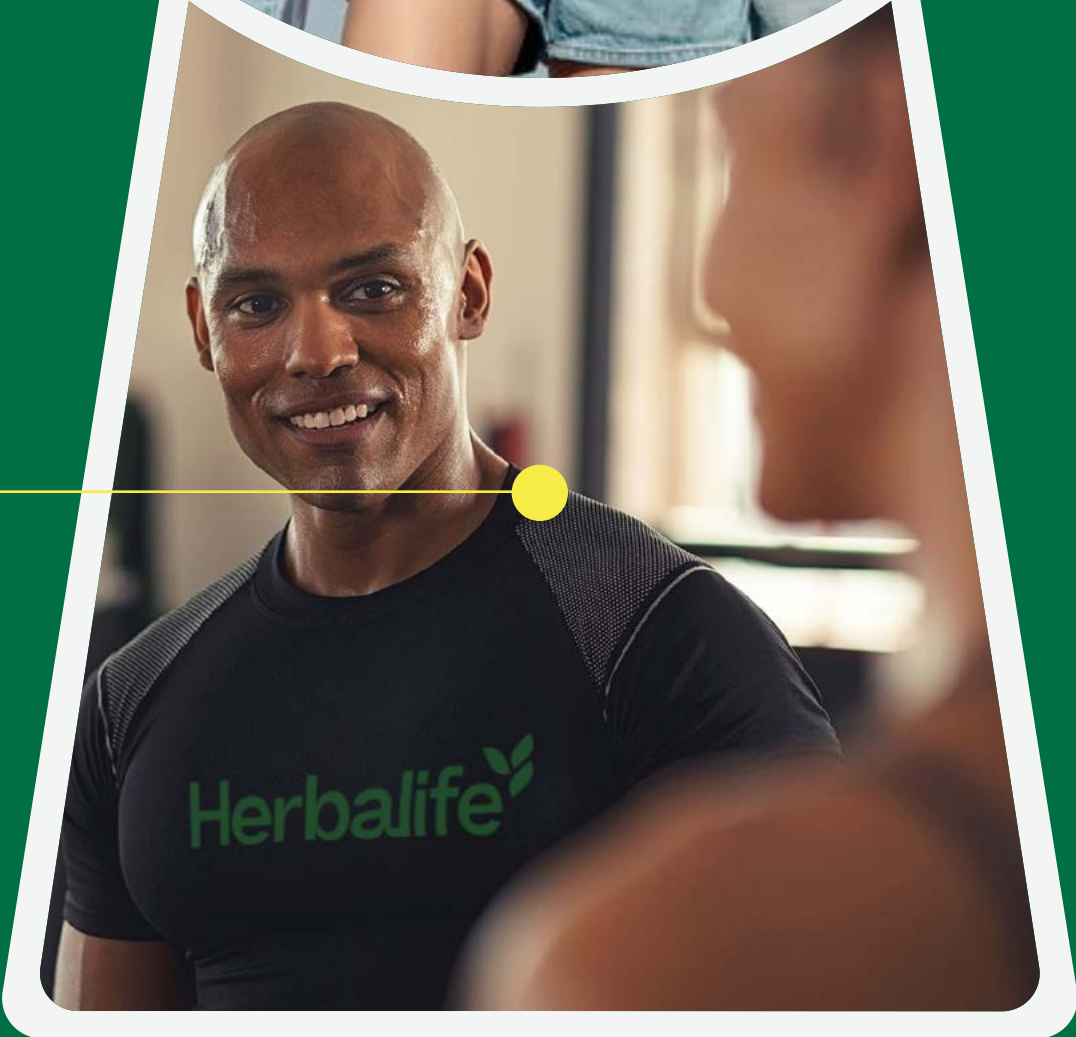

THE CORE HELPS US STAND OUT AND PLAY A VALUABLE ROLE IN PEOPLE’S LIVES.

Part One: Foundation

Ensures the brand is rooted in a clear understanding of the market, audience needs and competitive advantage.

THE FOUNDATION KEEPS OUR BRAND CONSISTENT ACROSS THE WORLD.

Brandmark Overview

This page provides an example of our Brandmark ecosystem.

To build equity in the Brandmark, it is important to understand how the ecosystem is built. In most marketing applications, the full Brandmark lockup, including the tagline, should be used.

The Brandmark lockup without the tagline should be used in brand applications such as website navigation or social content.

The brand symbol is the iconic mark of Herbalife and serves as the primary global monogram for the future.

Brandmark files can be downloaded here.

BRANDMARK

2.2 OUR BRANDMARK

Our Brandmark

Our Brandmark balances structure with an organic quality. This harmony comes from the flowing nature of our type and mark, with an underlying structure in the letterforms.

The three leaves represent how we enhance total well-being: physically, emotionally and financially.

Our symbol is anchored at the top right to suggest continual growth, and the “a/l” ligature speaks to connection.

The Brandmark is set in our primary color, Garden Green — a vital brand equity element. Green’s link with health, nature, growth, prosperity and life is appealing and builds consumer trust.

Please note: Following these guidelines does not mean uses are approved. You must always seek approval through your market’s Legal team and Brand Review for any materials using the Brandmark, including correct trademark symbols and overall context.

2.3 COLOR USAGE

Brandmark Color Usage

Garden Green is our iconic primary color, featured in our most recognizable assets — the Brandmark and symbol.

The primary application is Garden Green on white, reinforcing our brand’s presence and premium positioning.

For consistency, Garden Green should be used whenever possible. A secondary option allows the Brandmark to appear in white on a Garden Green background.

Our secondary Brandmark is reserved for announcements and event communications, adding a bold, distinctive touch while staying true to our identity.

These usage rules also apply to the Brandmark Tagline version.

Never use the white Brandmark on secondary, flavor or functional colors.

ON BLACK ONLY

The Energy Green on black Brandmark is ONLY for scenarios requiring black backgrounds, ensuring contrast, legibility and ADA compliance.

If printing limitations exist, only use: black on white or white on black.

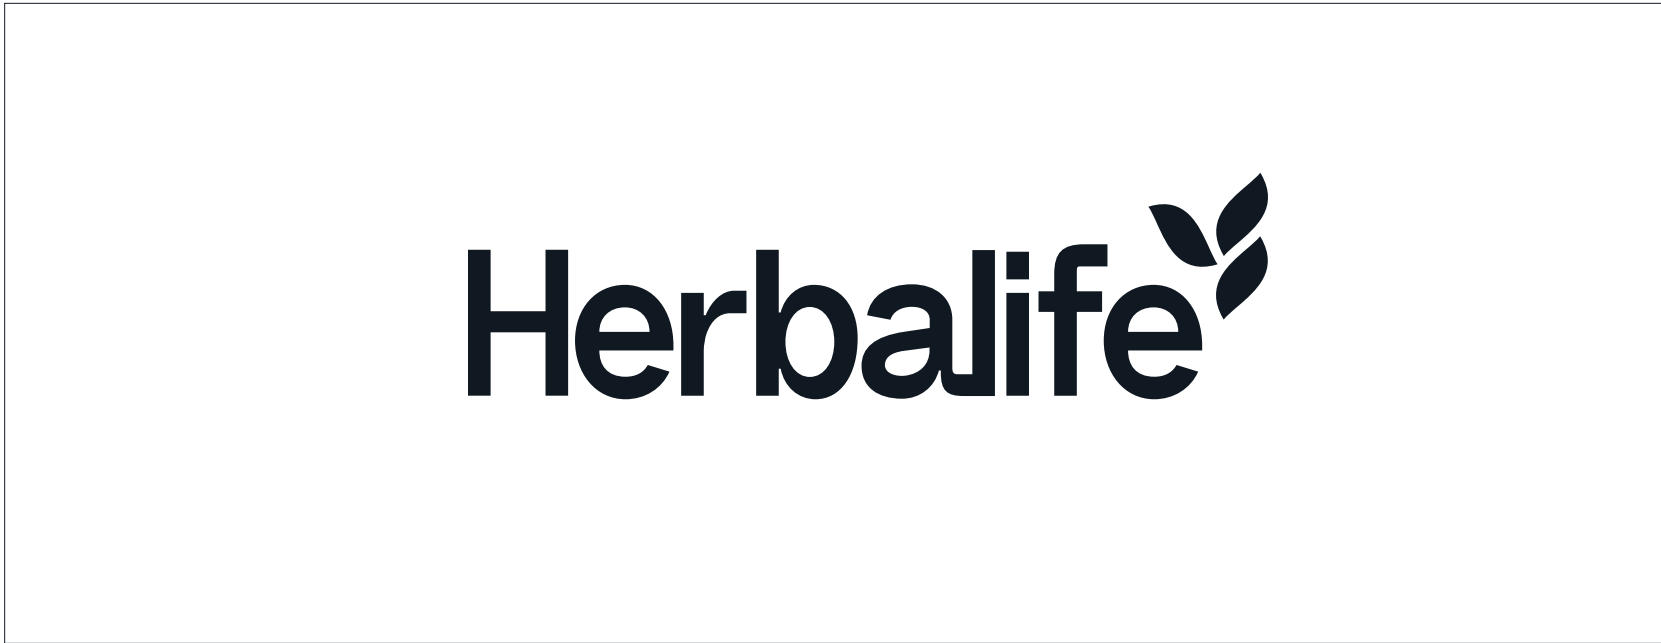

These rules apply to the Brandmark Tagline version as well. ONLY use the Brandmark color combinations shown on this page for their designated purposes.

2.5 TAGLINE

Brandmark and Tagline

Use the lockup in most applications to build equity in the Brandmark and tagline.

When using the tagline alone, the Brandmark must be nearby and reasonably sized to build the association with Herbalife and reduce risk of trademark infringement.

Always use our tagline in sentence case — never in all caps or title case. Do not add an exclamation mark.

When “Live your best life” is the headline or primary message, use Herbalife Natural font. When the tagline is secondary to the Brandmark, use Herbalife Walsheim GT font.

The tagline should align with key points on the wordmark and be included in all applications except specific instances such as apparel.

2.6 SIZING

Brandmark Sizing

A primary consideration when designing the Brandmark and symbol was to optimize legibility at varying sizes. The Brandmark displays proper hierarchical relationships when scaled up or down.

2.9 TRADEMARK

Brandmark Trademark

The registered trademark symbol (®) is a small capital “R” in a circle placed directly at the end of a word or phrase to show it has been registered.

IMPORTANT: Before using the ® for Herbalife, consult your local legal team to confirm if it is required in your country.

The Herbalife Brandmark with ® must be used in all public-facing materials, except facilities, apparel and social media. For guidance on ® size in assets, see the examples to the right.

When writing Herbalife in body copy, use the registered trademark like this:

- Herbalife® product(s), Herbalife® “product name,” Herbalife® [product category] product(s)

RULES:

- Registration marks are superscript and go before punctuation.
- Do not use Herbalife® in front of a product name on the Herbalife website.
- Do not use “Herbalife®” with Herbalife24 or Herbalife SKIN®.

For smaller assets,
use larger ® symbol

For assets between 200 and 1,400 pixels, use the larger registered trademark symbol to ensure legibility at smaller sizes.

Examples of small assets for large ® symbol:

- Mobile
- Small product packaging
- Social media profile
- Video watermarks
- Stickers, badges and tags

For larger assets,
use smaller ® symbol

For prints larger than 6 inches in length, we suggest using the smaller registered trademark symbol, which is scaled down by 50%. This ensures that the registered trademark symbol does not disrupt the Brandmark with its enlarged size and weight by ratio.

Examples of large assets for small ® symbol:

- Large signage
- Billboards
- Outdoor ads
- Large packaging
- Keynote screens
- Vehicle wraps
- Shipping containers

Horizontal Partnerships

Building trust and awareness for our global brand includes sponsoring and partnering with events, organizations, initiatives, athletes and teams. These partners often have their own brand guidelines, which must be followed alongside Herbalife’s.

When creating co-branded lockups, ensure equal partnership and visual balance: place our Brandmark last in horizontal layouts and at the bottom in vertical ones, giving partners prominence while maintaining balance.

Overall width not to exceed the Brandmark.

HORIZONTAL LOCKUP

2.18 SYMBOL OVERVIEW

Symbol Overview

The evolution of the symbol pays homage to our heritage while inviting new audiences to connect with our brand. The three leaves represent how we enhance total well-being: physically, emotionally and financially.

All rules for the Brandmark also apply to the symbol to ensure consistency and reduce trademark risk.

Do not use the symbol by itself without prior approval from Global Brand.

If using the symbol as a graphic element or key visual, the Brandmark must be nearby to build association with Herbalife until the symbol becomes iconic and to reduce trademark risk.

Symbol files can be downloaded here.

Symbol Cropping

Cropping the symbol is a technique to enhance the brand's graphic expression.

When cropping, follow the recommended system:

1. Top Left
2. Top Centered
3. Top Right
4. Center Left
5. Centered
6. Center Right
7. Bottom Left
8. Bottom Centered
9. Bottom Right

Always ensure that all three leaves of the symbol are fully visible. When used as a cropped graphic element, the ® version is not required — use the non-trademark version instead.

2.20 SYMBOL DOS AND DON'TS

Symbol Dos and Don'ts

If using the symbol as a graphic element, follow these dos and don'ts to ensure brand consistency and reduce trademark risk.

- 1. DO use the symbol near the Brandmark
- 2. DON'T use the symbol by itself unless approved by Global Brand
- 3. DON'T crop the symbol to fewer than 3 leaves — all must remain visible
- 4. DON'T use one leaf alone or deconstruct the symbol. Always size proportionally
- 5. DON'T tilt, flip or skew the symbol
- 6. DON'T use the symbol as a pattern
- 7. DON'T use the symbol in any color other than Garden Green
- 8. DON'T add strokes, glows, shadows or other effects
- 9. DON'T design alternate leaves or leaf-inspired shapes — this dilutes the symbol

Seals

Overview

We use the seal to express a claim or benefit. It is a prominent identifier meant to engage, attract and build trust with our audiences.

Depending on context, the seal may be used with or without the Brandmark. For example, if the Brandmark is already intrinsic to the design, a lockup is not required. If the seal is a standalone element, it must lock up with the Brandmark.

COLOR

3.1 PRIMARY COLORS

Primary Colors

Our color palette represents our premium brand and optimistic community. Vibrant tones reflect optimism, while darker tones convey a premium feel.

We lead with Garden Green and white for everyday communications, reinforcing brand presence. Energy and Forest Green are reserved for bolder messaging, such as fitness and events, adding spark and spirit to our community.

Beige is a secondary background color to create and separate hierarchy in everyday, long-form pieces. Always prioritize a white background for primary messaging.

Secondary colors can be used in everyday communications at a 90:10 primary-to-secondary ratio.

A 60:40 primary-to-secondary ratio may be used in more expressive pieces (e.g., promotions, new products) to harmonize with photography and illustrations.

3.8 TRANSPARENCY

Transparency Usage

Transparent colors may be used to maintain continuity and fluidity in designs, particularly when placing text over photography.

Black or primary brand colors may be used for transparency overlays. Always apply as a solid fill — never gradients, fades, or other tonal transitions, to avoid creating a decorative or non-brand look.

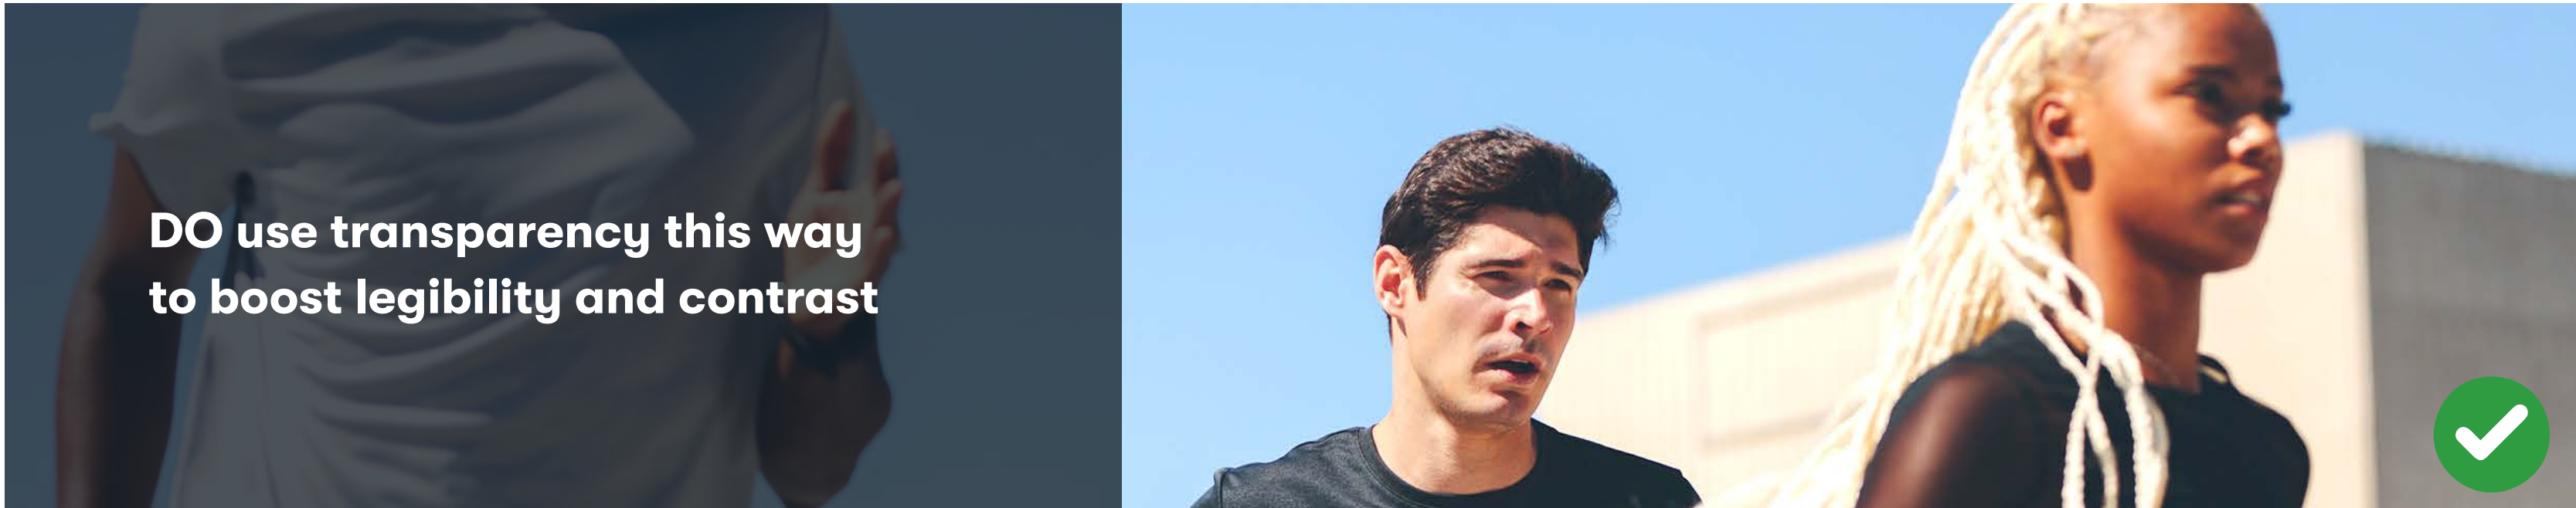

Use up to 75% transparency as needed to maintain text legibility and visual balance.

Avoid excessive or unnecessary use of transparencies — apply only when essential to improve clarity or cohesion.

TYPOGRAPHY

4.1 OVERVIEW

How We Play With Type

Our brand typography balances approachability and credibility. Fonts are a key part of our visual identity, integrating with other design elements to create a look and feel that is ownable, distinct and aligned with our brand positioning.

Font weights, sizes and colors provide flexibility to convey different tones and establish hierarchy.

Herbalife Natural — used for headlines — introduces a human, organic element.

Herbalife Walsheim GT brings friendly structure to the system and is used for body text, small titles and some headlines.

Sentence case is used for headlines and body copy to create a conversational tone. For more spirited, bold communications (e.g., sports performance or Distributor events/promotions), all caps with a bold weight may be used.

IMPORTANT: The use of other fonts dilutes our brand and may create legal risk due to licensing management issues.

Better together.

Our primary typeface, Herbalife Natural, paired symbiotically with our secondary typeface, Herbalife Walsheim.

4.2 HIERARCHY

Typography
Hierarchy

Our two key typefaces work together to create a brand that feels authentic and bold. To build clear hierarchy, use size differences and distinct layout impressions. Always follow the line height, tracking and text arrangements in this document for consistency.

There are two headline treatments for specific instances (outlined below). In all other cases, use the standard treatments.

1A. HERBALIFE NATURAL - PRIMARY

- Default for headlines and key messaging
- Establishes hierarchy that feels balanced and approachable

1B. HERBALIFE WALSHEIM GT BLACK - ALL CAPS

- Use for events, displays and select social media
- Limited to high-energy moments in OOH, events and performance content
- On social, reserve for bold announcements or major campaigns — not daily messaging
- Never use as a primary brand headline

2. HERBALIFE WALSHEIM GT REGULAR

- Use for body copy and captions

3. HERBALIFE WALSHEIM GT BLACK - ALL CAPS

- Use for smaller titles to support visual differentiation

Styles and Colors to Choose

The Herbalife brand icon system includes two styles: minimal and duotone.

STYLE OPTIONS

MINIMAL

- Minimal-themed icons are the primary design system.
- The minimal style should cover ~80% of icon usage.
- These icons are functional and informative.

DUOTONE

- Duotone-themed icons are the secondary design system.
- The duotone style should cover ~20% of icon usage.
- These icons serve as the hero or central element of the story.

How We Use Icons

Use minimal style for functional or informative icons, such as those on websites and emails.

On social media, use minimal style for thumbnails. When an icon is the hero in a post image, use the duotone style.

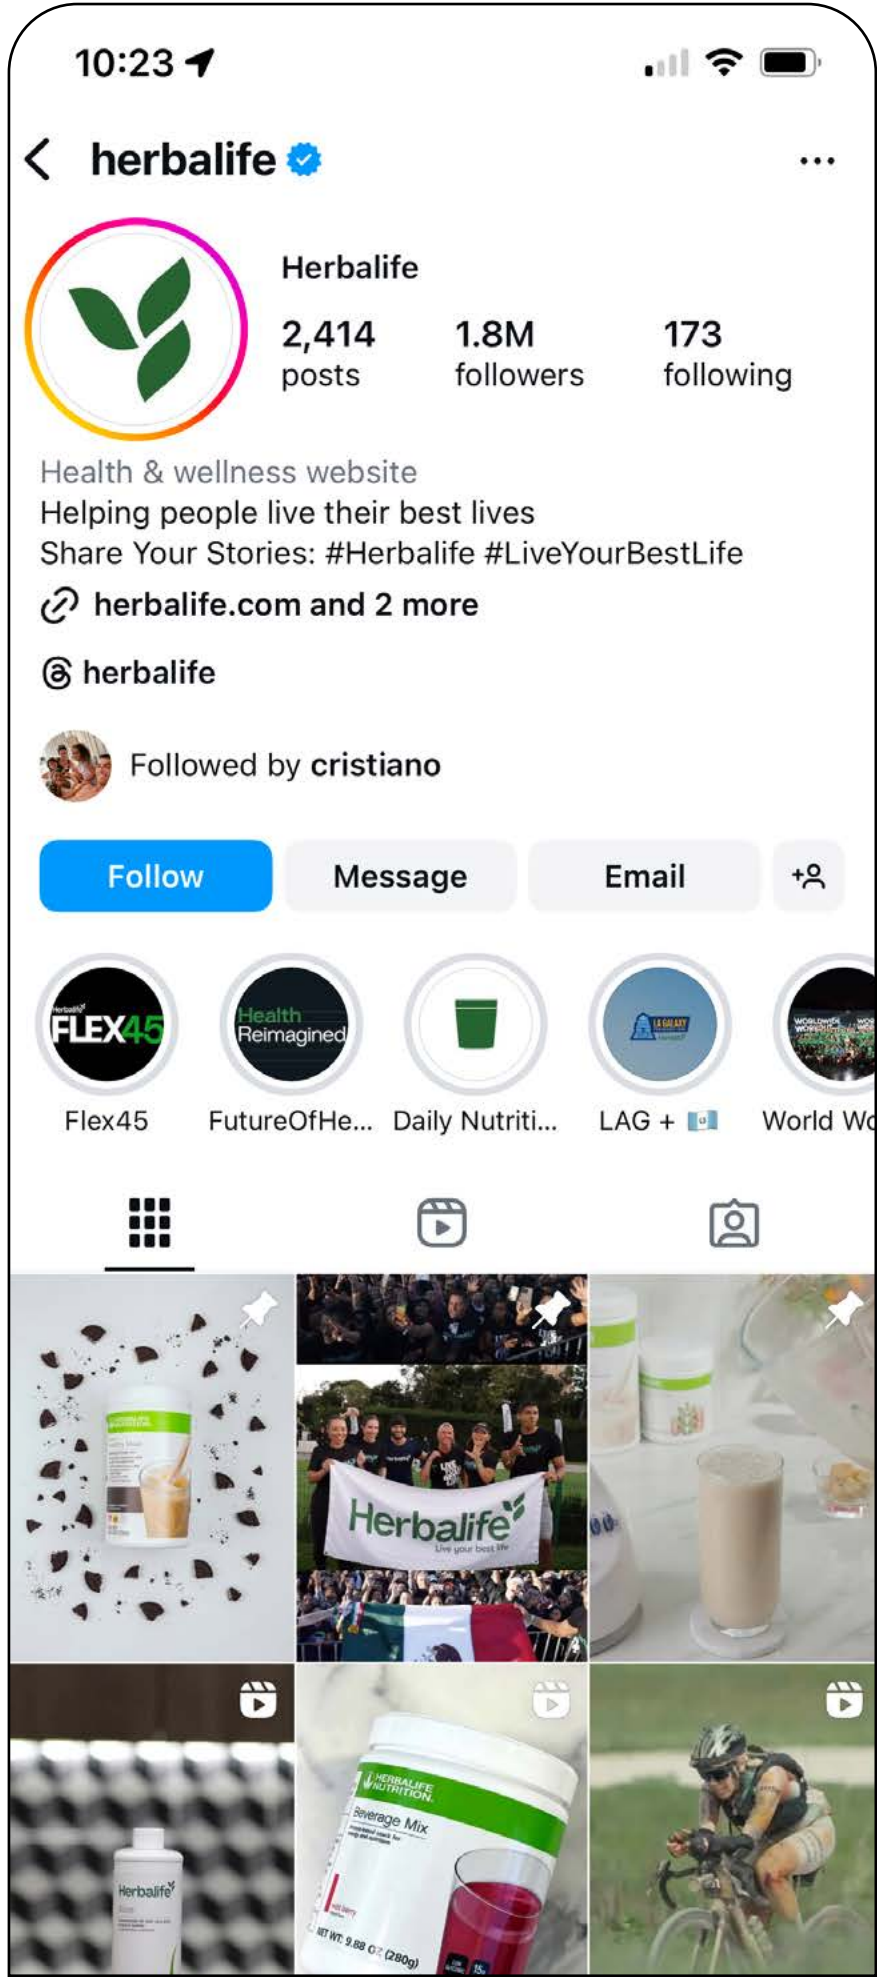

WEB ICON

EMAIL

SOCIAL THUMBNAIL

Showing Up On Screens

When designing icons for video, place them on uncluttered backgrounds or areas that enhance clarity. Ensure sufficient contrast between the icon and the video background.

As a general rule, use the minimal icon style in white. If needed for contrast, use the minimal style in Garden Green.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

The use of the minimal icon style in white is for video only. It does not apply to static images or background colors aside from Garden Green.

Where To Use

Use the duotone style when the icon is the hero or central part of the story being communicated.

In these examples – collateral, event sign and app icons – the icon is the center of the story.

If you develop a collateral or event sign in which icons are functional or informative, use the minimal style.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.2 PRINCIPLES

Photography Principles

Our photography should portray our optimistic, authentic and inclusive community.

From expressions to lighting, capture real, unstaged moments. Use morning sun as the primary light source to create an authentic, natural feel.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

THRIVING TOGETHER

Our photos should showcase community togetherness more often than individuals. If multiple people can't be shown, imply connection through details such as a hand.

AUTHENTICITY

The kindness of our community can't be faked. Use candid moments with natural lighting and unstaged settings for a genuine feel.

MOVEMENT

Portray the energy of our community by capturing mid-action moments that convey movement. Avoid static or posed shots.

Photography Categories

Whether showing our people together or our products in use, capture the community’s energy authentically across all categories.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

HUMAN-CENTRIC
Real people enjoying all forms of wellness, from fitness to financial.

LIFESTYLE
Authentic moments of our community uplifting and supporting one another.

HERBALIFE MOMENTS
Authentic celebratory moments of our community that capture the energy of our events.

DISTRIBUTOR-CENTRIC
Distributors in action running their businesses, supporting their customers, engaging with their communities.

LIFESTYLE PRODUCT
Products in use/captured in situation alongside our community.

PRODUCT
Products appearing on their own, in use and at lived-in (non-studio) settings.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.4 CATEGORIES

Human-Centric

From our Distributors to the people who enjoy our products, photography should capture our strong sense of community and approachability.

Show candid, authentic moments of people in natural light to create warmth and relatability. Aim for a feeling of real over perfect, and avoid artificial or cold lighting.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

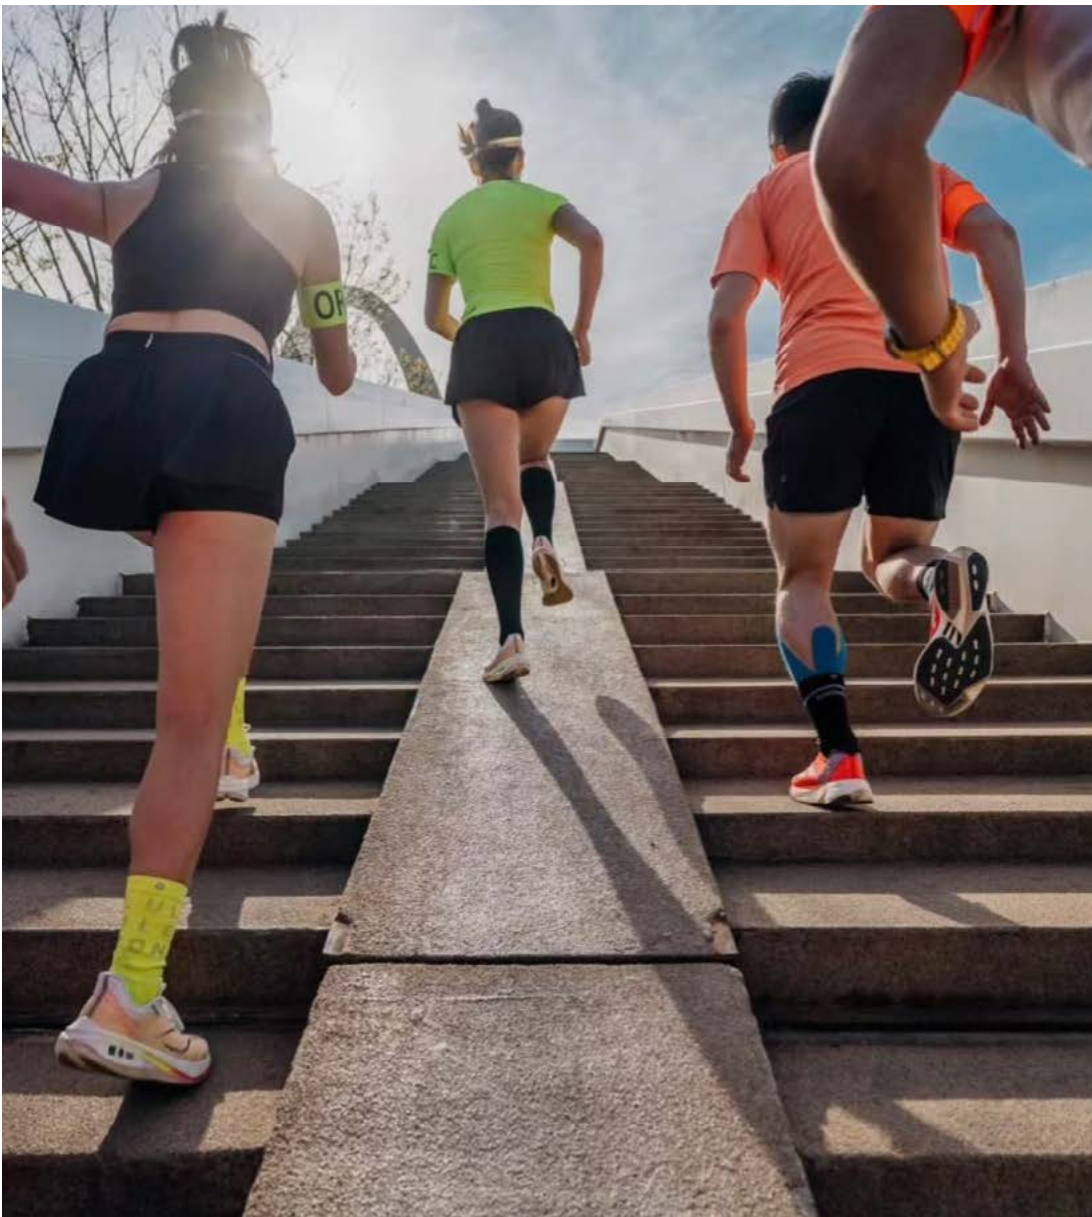

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.5 CATEGORIES

Lifestyle

Our community in action means dynamic movements, authentic expressions and attainable activities that show people working together to achieve their goals. Use warm, natural lighting to create an approachable feel while reflecting themes of community and empowerment.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.6 CATEGORIES

Herbalife
Moments

Event photography should follow the same principles as lifestyle photography — warm, authentic and human — but through a celebratory lens that captures energy and spirit.

While some posed shots may appear, the focus should remain on candid, dynamic moments that convey genuine emotion and authentic interactions. Prioritize natural expressions, spontaneous movement, and the vibrant atmosphere that define our events.

These images will naturally feature increased Herbalife branding, including logos on apparel and throughout event environments.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.7 CATEGORIES

Distributor—
Centric

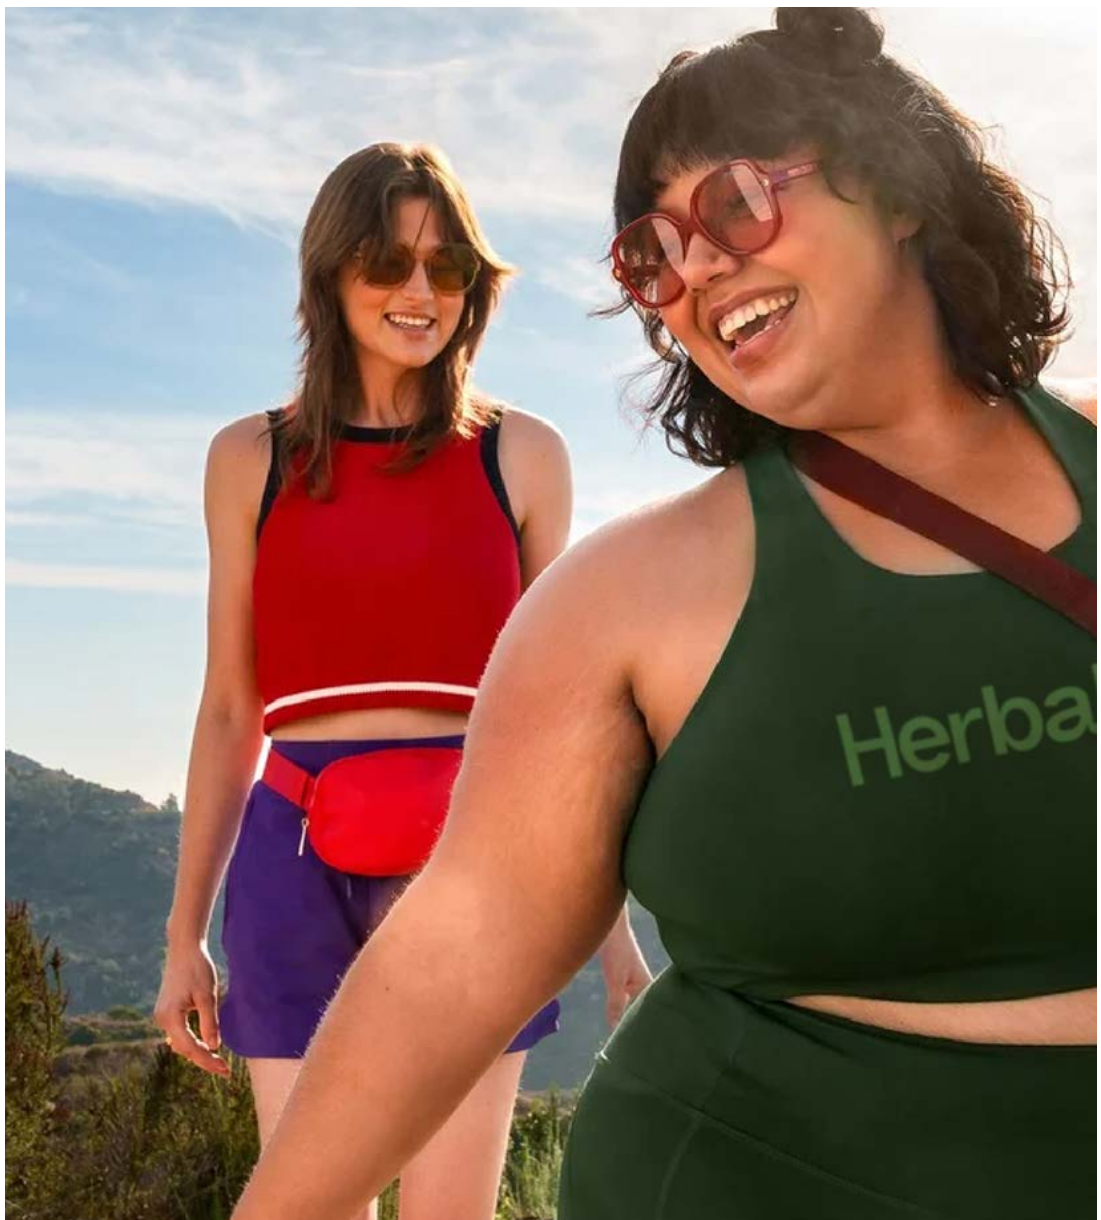

Spotlight Distributors in action — running their businesses, engaging with customers, working in Nutrition Clubs and using the products.

While the focus is business-driven, images should still follow lifestyle photography principles to maintain a cohesive style across all categories.

Emphasize authenticity, warmth, natural energy and human connection so Distributor photography aligns with broader brand storytelling.

These images will naturally feature more Herbalife branding, including logos on apparel and in Distributor environments, but branding should never feel forced, unnatural or excessive.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.8 CATEGORIES

Lifestyle Product

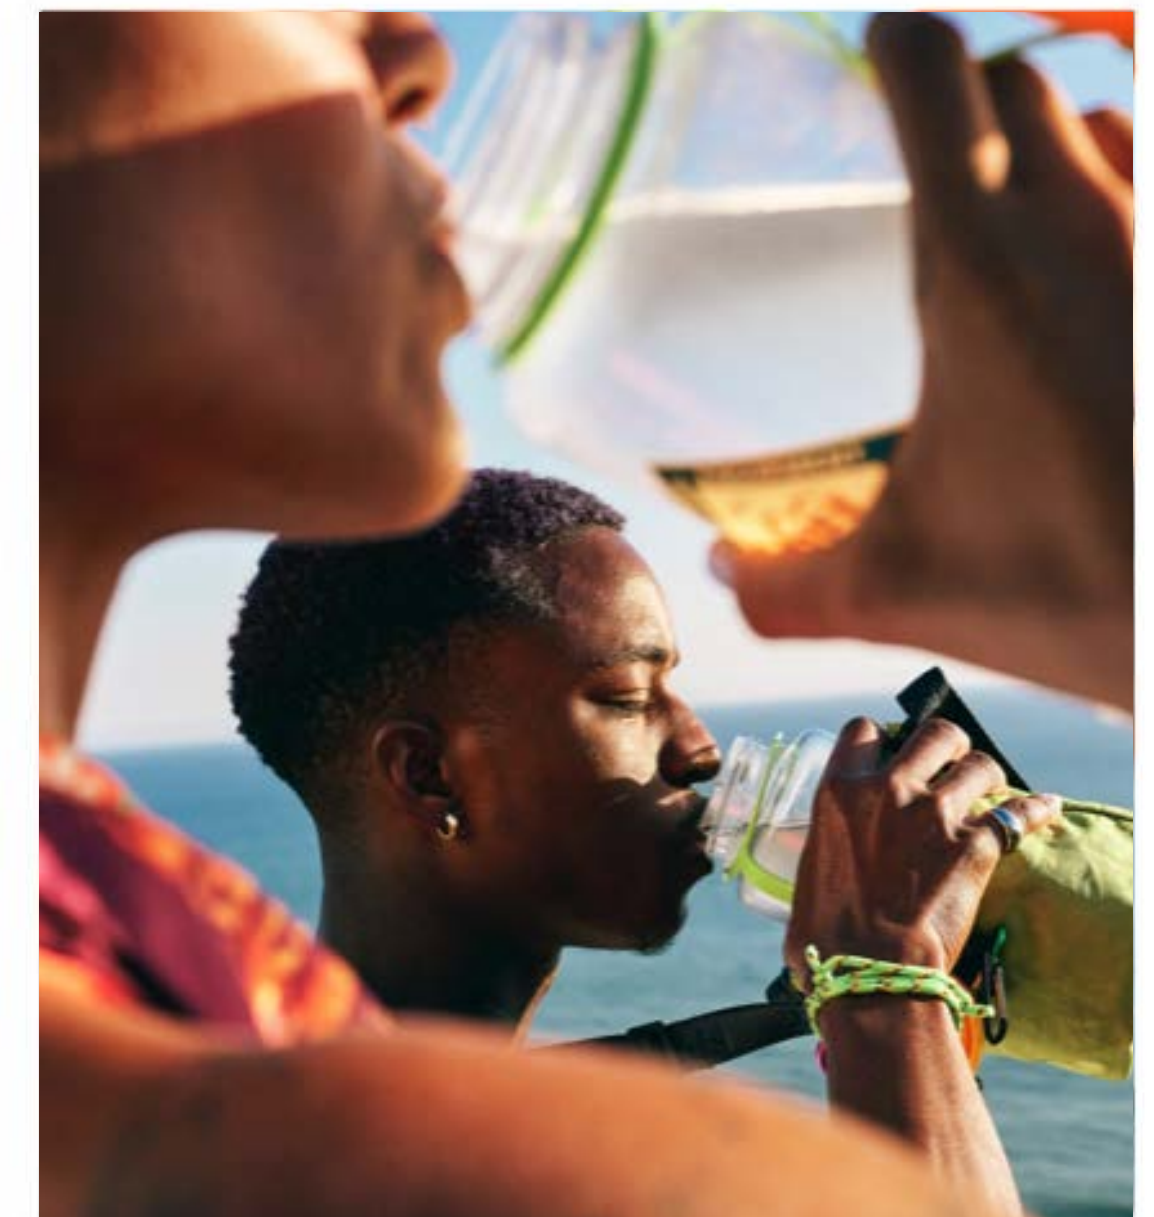

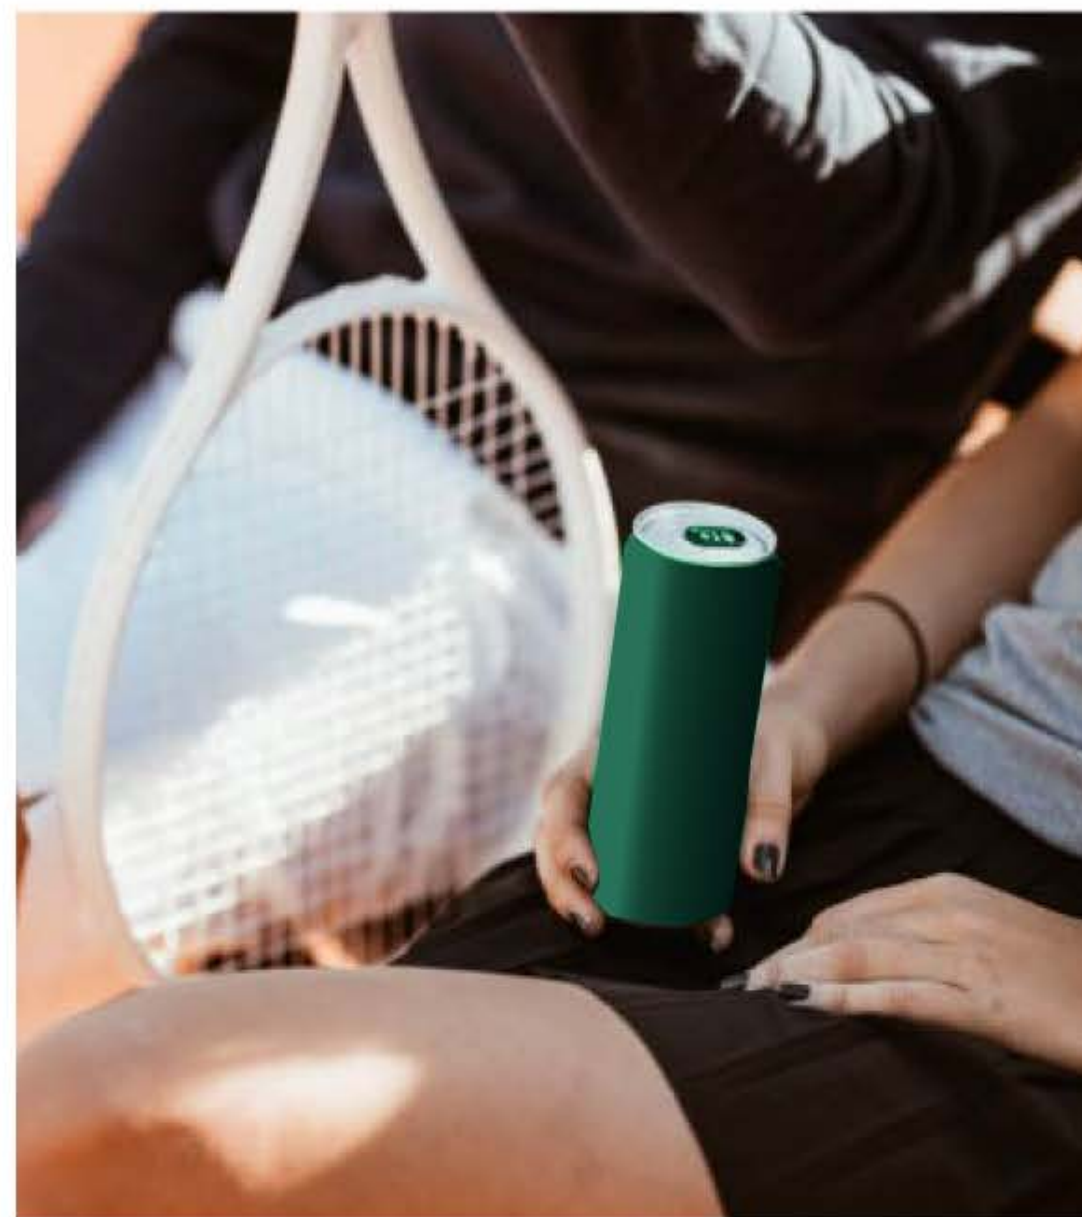

Although products are featured, community remains central to lifestyle product photography. Show products in real settings with natural lighting. Whether full-body shots or human details (e.g., hands with products), environments should always feel natural — never staged.

Do not show products or packaging in environments where they would not naturally appear.

Branding should be subtle, limited to items like product packaging and water bottles. Keep other items, such as drinkware and containers, unbranded to maintain authenticity.

Note:

These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.9 CATEGORIES

Product

Similar to lifestyle product photography, community remains essential even when products are shown alone. Place products in perfectly-imperfect environments where human activity is evident, creating a warm and relatable feel.

Avoid studio setups, cold lighting or overly polished compositions, which make products feel artificial and unappealing.

Branding should be subtle, limited to product packaging and water bottles. Keep other items, such as drinkware and containers, unbranded to maintain authenticity.

Note:

These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.10 CATEGORIES

Product
In-Studio

When shooting our products in studio, the product is the focus and the art direction should:

- Use a clean background
- Incorporate our brand neutrals or greens
- Include features that tie back into the "real world" like human elements (hands) or natural ingredients
- Leave drinkware and containers unbranded so as to appear authentic

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.11 CATEGORIES

Recipe Photography

Recipe photography should use minimal propping and focus on the finished product. The tone should be modern and show how to make the recipe with simple visuals.

Branding should be subtle, limited to product packaging and occasional drinkware to maintain authenticity.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

Textural Photography

Textural photography captures the tactile experience of Herbalife products and lifestyle.

It may reference brand experiences such as the products, ingredients, natural elements, or science cues.

Find textures here.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

Photography Editing

To maintain visual consistency, follow these techniques when creating photo assets, presets and filters that align with Herbalife brand photography.

Use morning light as inspiration for editing. Avoid cooler tones and lean into warmer tones, such as reds and yellows, to create a warm, approachable feel.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

ORIGINAL IMAGE

INCREASED EXPOSURE

Adjust and increase the exposure to create more contrast between the highlights and shadows.

INCREASED COLOR BALANCE

Increase color balance of the reds and yellows of the midtones, using morning light as a reference.

PHOTOGRAPHY

6.14 COLORS

Photography

For stronger brand presence, infuse our colors into photography so they harmonize with existing tones in the image.

Using our color palette reinforces that everything stems from the Herbalife brand and community.

6.15 PHOTOGRAPHY DON'TS

Photography
Don'ts

Follow these rules to ensure brand consistency and reduce trademark risk.

- 1. DON'T use cheesy, posed photography that feels staged or overly perfect.
- 2. DON'T use lighting that fails to capture morning light.
- 3. DON'T show products or ingredients that look artificial or unappetizing.
- 4. DON'T overbrand moments outside of events — branding should remain subtle and authentic.
- 5. DON'T show product packaging in unnatural environments.
- 6. DON'T use imagery inappropriate for all ages. Keep it family-friendly and respectful.

Note:
These photos represent a range within our placement system, from professional-quality shoots to candid user-generated content.

VIDEO

6.16 SUBTITLES

Video Subtitles

SUBTITLES AND CAPTIONS

- Subtitles and captions should be centered in the bottom third of the video.
- If the bottom third is occupied by graphics or text, move them higher.
- If readability is an issue, add a background behind the subtitles or captions.

PREFERRED FONT AND SIZING

Use the Herbalife brand font, Herbalife Natural, in regular weight for subtitles and captions.

Font size and formatting may vary depending on video resolution. For reference, in Adobe Premiere, use settings that maintain clear legibility across screen sizes.

COPYRIGHT CLOSE

Videos created by Herbalife for Distributors or the public should have a copyright to indicate that the content was produced by Herbalife.

Videos played at events can be used without copyright, but a copyright should be added before release.

MUSIC

- 7.1 Sound Principles
- 7.2 Core Sound Architecture
- 7.3 Sound Categories
- 7.4 Sound Library
- 7.6 Music Do's and Don'ts

Sound Principles

Our sound embodies our spirit of community by coming off just as warm, energetic and collaborative as our wonderful people do.

That means both our music and sound design should contain plenty of layers of instrumentals, vocals, and sound effects, working together to create a greater, more empowering whole.

After all, that’s exactly what our community does every single day.

LAYERS ON LAYERS

Our sound needs to possess various vocals, instrumentals and sound effects working together as one. The more layers, the more energy.

BUILD THE ENERGY

We always end stronger than we start. As our sound progresses, we not only maintain our warm and positive tone, we build the energy higher and higher

CROSS THE GENRES

Our community is diverse and our layers reflect that. Use music that blends various styles and even global sounds into one, seamless track.

MUSIC
7.2 CORE SOUND ARCHITECTURE

Core Sound Architecture

To truly capture the warmth of our community, each and every aspect of our sound needs to embody the energy they bring.

Use the following as a blueprint for what the core characteristics of our sound and music should be.

GENRE/INFLUENCE

Electro-pop, cross-genre, hip hop beats.

TONE

Warm, upbeat, empowering, energetic.

PRIMARY INSTRUMENTATION

Mix of synths, percussion, strong bassline.

SECONDARY/GLOBAL INSTRUMENTATION

HINTS of globally-inspired instruments/styles to represent the diversity of our people. Examples include, but are not limited to: Marimba, African drums, Mandolin, Sitar, Maracas, and so many more.

VOCALS

When vocals are used, ensure they are simple, catchy, and full of energy.

TEMPO

70 BPM at minimum, up to 150 BPM depending on context (Science, Brand, Event). Generally, the higher the better.

TEXTURE

Contains multiple layers of instrumentals and/or vocals working together at once.

DYNAMIC RANGE/CRESCENDO

Contains medium-high dynamic range. I.e. we do not remain stagnant in terms of energy and volume. Our music contains peaks, valleys and always finishes stronger/louder than we start.

Sound Categories

While our sound principles will always remain the same, it is important that we dial up certain elements depending on the context in which we appear. Our sound for science, brand and events lives on a spectrum, ranging from least to most expressive.

Least Expressive

SCIENCE

Layered and energetic, but slightly more reserved to add a professional/informational feel.

Mid-range

BRAND

Blending warm and globally-inspired layers to capture the energy/diversity our community brings.

Most Expressive

EVENT

Our sound in its most energetic form to capture the vibrance of our community, and to celebrate it.

Sound Library

These tracks serve as both options and inspiration in their respective categories.

Note:
Regions are responsible for securing all necessary licenses or permissions for the use of these or any other tracks within their respective markets.

SCIENCE EXAMPLES:

In science content we’ll rely on a slightly more reserved iteration of our sonic identity. Still embodying the energy that our community brings, while balancing more of a professional feel. Lower BPMs with tempos in the medium range, vibrant and textured, yet composed.

Mallet Moods - “Employee Appreciation Week”
(Universal Production Music)

Less is More 5 - “Timing is Everything”
(Universal Production Music)

Organic Spark - “Leading the Pack”
(Universal Production Music)

BRAND EXAMPLES:

In brand communications, we strike a balance at the center of our sonic spectrum. The sound blends warm, globally inspired layers that reflect our diverse community and create an empowering, authentic feel.

Galerie for TV - “Tropical Paradise”
(Universal Production Music)

DeKibo - “Give Me That”
(Premium Beats)

Chris Phaze - “Make It Loud”
(Premium Beats)

Alt Pop Soul - “In It To Win It”
(Universal Production Music)

EVENT EXAMPLES:

For event-related content, our sonic identity is elevated to its most dynamic state. Expect more layers, higher energy, and amplified emotion — capturing the passion of our community and delivering a celebratory, memorable experience.

Do’s and Don’ts

If ever unsure of how our sound principles come to life, please refer to the following do’s and don’ts.

LAYERS ON LAYERS:

Sound Composition

Without coming off as busy, we always want multiple layers of audio working together. DON’T create music or sound design that consists of one audio element working alone.

Sound Effects

DO layer sound effects into our mix, but DON’T use effects that feel synthetic or out of place. If you wouldn’t hear it in the situation pictured, you shouldn’t hear it in our mix.

Voiceover

DO layer on VO that is representative of our community. Choose a narrator that speaks causally and even with an accent to capture our diversity

Sound Mix

DO make sure our layers blend together seamlessly. DON’T let one audio element overpower the others.

BUILD THE ENERGY:

Tempo

DO use tracks that possess a quick, upbeat tempo to create a sense of energy and momentum. DON’T use tracks under 70 BPM that can evoke feelings of staticity.

Crescendo/Build

To create feelings of growth, DO use tracks that possess an energetic build and end on a strong crescendo. DON’T use tracks with little/no dynamic range.

Instrumentals

DO choose instrumentals that evoke a sense of warmth and empowerment. DON’T use instrumentals that come off somber or depressing.

CROSS THE GENRES:

Cross-Genre

DO mix different styles of music and genres when possible. Ex. dance pop synths with hip hop percussion. We work as one despite our differences, and our music should, too.

Global Elements

DO mix in hints of globally-inspired instrumentals, vocals and sound effects where it makes sense. We are a diverse, global community, and our sound can reflect that.

Hints Only

DO use hints of global sounds, DON’T use global songs in their entirety. Imagine a pop song with hints of a sitar, not a Hindustani song that your local market may not be familiar with.

8.1 BRAND REVIEW POLICY & GUIDANCE

Brand Review Policy & Guidance

BRAND REVIEW REQUIREMENT:

Per our global Brand Review Guidelines, nearly all employee-facing, distributor/member-facing, and public-facing materials must be approved by the Brand Marketing team before publication. This includes product and marketing campaigns, logos, print, digital and social assets, testimonials, training materials, sponsored athlete content, videos, event materials and signage as well as facility branding, clothing, and promotional items. Please see the guidelines for complete details.

EXCEPTIONS:

Brand approval is not required for legal or compliance edits, or copy/translation updates.

GUIDANCE & CONSULTATION:

Use this Brand Book to guide the creation of brand-aligned materials from the start of your project. The Brand Marketing team is available for consultation before and during development to help ensure alignment and efficiency.

SUBMISSION PROCESS:

To submit assets for review, please use the Brand Review Request Form here and allow two to three business days for processing, plus additional time for any adjustments if needed.

For more information about the Herbalife brand review process, please contact us at brand@herbalife.com

You may share the Herbalife Brand Book and assets with third parties that receive a purchase order, have signed a non-disclosure agreement or executed a services agreement with Herbalife.

Third parties can use our licensed fonts and Brandmark files to develop Herbalife materials only. The links below work for people outside the company.

HERBALIFE FONTS AND BRANDMARK COLLECTION:

The Herbalife fonts and Brandmark Collection, which includes the Brandmark, Brandmark-and-tagline lockup, and symbol, are available for external partners and vendors to access here.

HERBALIFE FONT LICENSED USES INCLUDE:

Desktop (images for websites, social media, giveaways and print), web, applications, documents (PDF, Word documents, etc.), video & broadcasting, advertising, third-party distribution, merchandise for sale and server embedding.

How do we define our audiences?

Whether we're addressing a customer who buys, a Distributor who sells or an employee who represents, our communication should be consistent. Here is the terminology for Herbalife-related groups and individuals:

INDEPENDENT DISTRIBUTOR:

Earns money by selling Herbalife products that they buy at a discount. They may also sponsor others who either sell Herbalife products or purchase them at a discount for their own use.

PREFERRED CUSTOMER:

Consumes but does not sell Herbalife products. They are sponsored by a Distributor, but they have a contact with and buy products from Herbalife.

CUSTOMER:

Consumes but does not sell Herbalife products. They buy from their Distributor.

CONSUMER:

Member of the general public. They may or may not be an Herbalife customer.

EMPLOYEE:

Works in the service of Herbalife and earns salary and benefits.

Key Legal Points to Remember as You Work

Always review new projects with your local Legal team. In the meantime, here are things to keep in mind as you put new assets together.

COPY:

Herbalife employees or contract copywriters should create their own copy. They should not mimic catchy phrases used by other brands. Nor should they quote news articles without attribution.

Keep a record of the dates when the copy was written. When using a contract copywriter, obtain all copies and record the submission dates of drafts and finished product. This can be crucial in protecting written works as copyright belonging to the Company. Contract copywriters must have a consulting agreement in place before starting a project.

FONT USAGE AND LICENSING:

Always use the approved fonts listed in this Brand Book when creating Herbalife materials. Using unapproved fonts compromises brand consistency and may result in legal or licensing violations.

Accessing to fonts within your desktop software does not automatically grant the Company the rights to use them in published materials. All font usage is governed by license agreements, which may specify limitations such as commercial versus non-commercial use, print versus digital applications, or regional usage rights.

If you are using a contractor to design layouts with typefaces, share the approved fonts with them. This ensures you are using fonts that are licensed for use by the Company.

PHOTOS, AUDIO AND VIDEO:

Photos, audio, and video involve two main rights concerns: copyright and, for recognizable individuals such as celebrities or political figures, reputational rights.

For copyright, give preference to assets produced by the Company. When shooting new content, ensure agreements specify licensing terms for location, duration, and intended use, covering both photographer and talent. Global use, in perpetuity, across all media is preferred; if not possible, clarify limitations before sharing assets. Keep records of creation dates to preserve the Company’s copyright.

When using third-party assets, obtain licenses that cover the exact intended use before publication. Contractor licenses may not automatically transfer to the Company — always request copies and have your local Legal team review them.

For reputational rights, if a person is recognizable in the image, video, or audio, confirm with your local Legal team that the use is permitted by agreement or applicable law. Without such permission, the Company may risk infringing on that person’s reputation or likeness rights.

Key Legal Points to Remember as You Work

Always review new projects with your local Legal team. In the meantime, here are things to keep in mind as you put new assets together.

LAYOUT:

Layout designs and their elements may be protected by copyright. Create layouts yourself, and when developing a new or substantially revised layout — for web, print, packaging, or video — keep a record of the date of creation.

If you use clip art or other third-party design elements, you must obtain a license covering the intended use, duration, and territory. License terms can be highly specific and may differ even between works by the same creator.

When using contractors, note that their licenses may not transfer to the Company. Always request copies of their licenses and have your local Legal team review them against the intended use.

APPS, WIDGETS, AND OTHER CODE:

Code used to create apps, widgets, and other software may sometimes be modular and it almost always belongs to someone else. If you are creating a digital asset that embeds functional code of some kind, check with the developer to review licenses pertaining to that code. Ask you local Legal team for help in reviewing these licenses.

And if you are using a contractor to develop code or embed functions in an asset, you should ask the contractor to identify for you the sources of each code block he uses that he has not written himself—and show you licenses to that code. Work with your local Legal team to review those licenses against your intended use.

GENERATIVE AI:

Generative AI relies on artificial intelligence to create new content, like text, images, and videos. There are many different types of generative AI models, and they learn by producing content based on different inputs or "prompts."

Go to Generate AI Chat Tools: A Safety Guide and ChatGPT and Other Non-Enterprise AI Tools Advisory to learn more about permitted and prohibited uses at Herbalife.
